

Invitation & Call for Registration 1st International Teaching Week

Shaping the Future: Innovations in Energy, Chip Design, Mobility, Space, AI & Robotics and Biomedical Engineering

October 13–17, 2025 in Brno, Czech Republic

The 1st International Teaching Week at FEEC BUT will bring together academics and professionals from partner universities across Europe to share current research, exchange teaching practices, and strengthen or establish new partnerships. This event will highlight interdisciplinary advances in key technological domains essential to the future of engineering and society.

The motivation behind this event is to start a new tradition of friendly, in-person meetings in Brno - bringing together students and colleagues to share ideas, proposals and present-day topics that are shaping the future in the fields of electrical engineering and informatics.
